Kimberly Lindsey-Feagin Completed Congressional Operations Certificate from TheCapitol.Net

ALEXANDRIA, VA – (April 28, 2010) – Kimberly Lindsey-Feagin completed her certificate in Congressional Operations from TheCapitol.Net. The Certificate in Congressional Operations is awarded to participants in the program who have completed more than 75 hours of congressional related training.

Kimberly Lindsey-Feagin is currently serving as the manager of Government and Community Affairs at Bosch, a global supplier of consumer goods, automotive, industrial and building technologies. Ms. Lindsey-Feagin is primarily responsible for leading Bosch's state and local public policy advocacy initiatives as well as directing its U.S. charitable contributions program and community relations activities.

"I've gained so much from the courses I've taken—and they have had an immediate impact on my skill set," Lindsey-Feagin said.

Kimberly Lindsey-Feagin has a diverse background with over 20 years of government, community relations, marketing, and engineering experience at corporations such as General Motors, Ford Motor Company and Visteon. Prior to joining Bosch, Ms. Lindsey-Feagin was manager of state, local and community affairs at Visteon Corporation, where she was responsible for legislative and government incentives and issue management, and she also managed stakeholder and community engagement, including corporate social responsibility initiatives and corporate contribution programs.

Kimberly Lindsey-Feagin received her bachelor's degree in industrial engineering and master's degree in manufacturing management from Kettering University.

TheCapitol.Net's Congressional Operations certificate gives professionals the background they need to effectively participate in the legislative arena. The courses help participants understand the legislative process, prepare congressional testimony, draft federal legislation, research legislative histories, monitor legislation, communicate with Congress, and work with federal regulatory agencies.
